

Magnesia Neutralizes Dangerous Stomach Acids

Practically all that pain and discomfort which we recognize by the names of indigestion and dyspepsia are usually indicative of nothing more than an excessive acid condition of the stomach, which retards digestion, causes the food to ferment, and gives rise to flatulence, heartburn, flushed face, wind, and many other well-known symptoms of stomach trouble. The stomach itself is quite healthy, but it is weakened, irritated and inflamed by harmful acid, and until steps are taken to neutralize this acid, and so prevent the food fermenting, the stomach will surely become weaker and weaker. But, fortunately, there is no reason why any sufferer should delay treatment until he or she becomes a chronic dyspeptic, for it has been proved that the harmful acid can be instantly neutralized and food fermentation prevented by simply taking a teaspoonful of pure bisulphate of magnesia in a little water immediately after meals. It should be remembered, however, that bisulphate of magnesia is a preparation totally different from the acetates, citrates and sulphates of magnesia; these are not to be recommended in cases of digestive or stomach trouble, and sufferers should, therefore, always ask the Barre Drug Co. or any druggist distinctly for bisulphate of magnesia, which is the form used in hospitals and recommended by physicians everywhere.—Adv.

The Evidence Is at Your Door

Barre proof is what you want, and the statement of this highly respected resident will banish all doubt:

Mrs. N. M. Nelson, 20 Merchant street, Barre, says: "A severe attack of grippe had left my kidneys weak, and instead of getting better, I became worse. The slightest housework tired me, and if I was on my feet for an hour or so, sharp pains across my back made me stop and rest. I paid out over one hundred dollars for doctors' treatments and medicines, but got no relief and finally became discouraged. Doan's Kidney Pills removed the trouble, and I have never been without a supply on hand since."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Nelson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

are the surest evidence of the "Mutual" feature of financial institutions. This bank has made two such dividends in the past two years, in addition to paying the regular guaranteed rate of four per cent. Future extra dividends will depend entirely upon the growth of business and consequent earnings. Why not join the list of our depositors and thereby make it possible that further "extras" be declared?

HOW TO CLEAR AWAY PIMPLES

Bathe your face for several minutes with resitol soap and hot water, then apply a little resitol ointment very gently. Let this stay on ten minutes, and wash off with resitol soap and more hot water, finishing with a dash of cold water to close the pores. Do this once or twice a day, and you will be astonished to find how quickly the healing resitol medication soothes and cleanses the pores, removes pimples and blackheads, and leaves the complexion clear and velvety.

Resitol ointment and resitol soap stop itching instantly and speedily heal skin humors, sores, burns, wounds and chafing. Sold by all druggists.

SOAP FOR BABY'S TENDER SKIN

The regular use of resitol soap is usually enough to prevent those distressing rashes and chafings to which most babies are subject. This is so, first, because resitol soap is absolutely pure and free from harsh alkali, and second, because it contains the resitol medication, on which so many physicians rely for skin troubles.

WILLIAMSTOWN

Teachers for the coming year in the rural schools of the town are as follows: The Clogston school not having a teacher engaged as yet: Edson Martin school, Miss Ethel Erskine; south hill, Miss Edna L. Seaver; George Lynde school, Miss Marion Lasell; Baptist street, Mrs. Mary Findlater; Boyce, Miss Ruby Reed; quarry schools, primary room Miss Una Bohanon of Washington, intermediate, Miss Agnes Gleason; grammar, Miss William David Cate; high school, Miss Gladys Martin; Red meetinghouse, Miss Louise Abbott of Barre. The schools throughout the town are to open on Monday, Aug. 30.

The annual picnic of the Rural Good Luck club will be held in Wesley M. Seaver's grove Saturday.

Miss Edna Seaver, who has been at work for Mrs. Oliver W. Martin for several weeks, has finished her engagement and is at home.

Through the kindness of Miss Rebecca W. Wright of Montpelier, secretary of the free library commission, a large township and county map has been placed in the postoffice, showing the towns having free libraries organized with state aid, those having free libraries organized without state aid, traveling library stations and number of libraries and towns having libraries not free.

Miss Elizabeth Cronover of Princeton, Ill., is visiting Mrs. Rebekah Simons.

Miss Mary Dwinell of Marshfield is visiting her cousin, Miss Mildred Gear-son. The latest edition of the A. C. V. year book, lately received gives the number of autos owned in town as 25. Several are however credited to Granville that are owned in town.

SUMMER CAMP SANITATION.

Select High Points Where Breezes Blow and Drainage Is Good.

A summer camp is a device for seeking health and pleasure without modern conveniences. Campers are persons who of their own volition, or through the enticement of others, revert to primitive modes of existence and ostensibly obtain enjoyment therefrom. Both place and persons then favor the development of irregularities, encourage more or less irresponsibility and lead to immediate wildness. In this there is no harm and often much good. However, one thing should not be forgotten—the arrangements. Allow the "animals" to break loose once more for the seasonal enjoyment, but by all means have the camp sanitary, so that in their wildness they will do no harm.

For, be it remembered that he who selects a suitable site, pitches his tent or builds his hut in a proper manner, examines his food and protects himself from his natural enemies, is a wise camper indeed.

The camp site is important. Select high ground where the breezes blow and the drainage is good. Only a veritable amateur will occupy the space where another camp has been, for the fifth, the flies and the food remnants are probably still there. Seek another location. If you are not satisfied, move; you probably haven't leased the premises and you ought not to put up with faulty conditions.

The water supply should be pure. The source should be known and proved to be uncontaminated and if there is the slightest suspicion of its quality it should not be used without boiling. This is a practicable and easy method of rendering any water safe for consumption. A second method is by the use of bleaching powder. Add a teaspoonful of chloride of lime to one pint of water and keep in a well stoppered bottle. A teaspoonful of this solution should be placed in two gallons of water to be treated and after standing for 30 minutes it is then absolutely safe for consumption.

Guard against insects of all varieties; many are not alone tormenting but disease carriers as well. Screen the cabin, the tent or the hut—even the most primitive people protect themselves in this manner. Flies frequently spoil an otherwise successful camping trip. Remember that they breed in manure and filth and that the camper himself is therefore often responsible for their presence. Make the handy man clean up and keep the grounds polished. A little borax added to the manure or filth inhibits the development of the larvae and should be in every outfit. Watch the mosquitoes. They carry in their sting more than a temporary annoyance. See that the campfire is properly tended. A little smudge at night. Oil the pools and screens the sleeping place if you have not forgotten to put a few yards of netting in your kit. Anoint yourself. There are really a few preparations which mosquitoes do not like. One is castor oil and pine tar, equal parts, and another is oil of citronella.

Dispose of all human and animal wastes in a proper manner. Burn whatever is destructible, bury deeply what you cannot burn, and protect that which you cannot bury. If your site is more or less permanent handle garbage in properly covered cans and then incinerate. Just as tin cans have marked the pathways to the West, so they indicate camp sites for all time to come. They have no other usefulness except as breeding places for mosquitoes. Why not consign them to their grave while they are still in the heyday of existence? Do not permit the cook to scatter dishwater indiscriminately about; it attracts flies, decomposes and is otherwise objectionable. Fasten a sign to this effect upon the nearest tree, or if you have your courage with you scumulate Luther and nail it to the kitchen door.

Provide a suitable toilet. Remember that soil pollution is one of the great causes of disease in our country to-day. Do this then not alone for your own protection and convenience but for the welfare of others. The pail system may be used or a trench dug, utilizing dry earth or chloride of lime for covering. Be sure to protect from insects by screening. When abandoned make it your business to see that it is not objectionable in any manner and do not place it where the wind follows in your footsteps. Do not pollute the streams. That man should lessen the charm of the wayside brooks, the very voices which called him from afar, is inconceivable.

Be careful of the provender. Select only proper foodstuffs, those whose quality is known, and properly preserve them. Use the stream for cooling and that world old device of lowering temperature by the evaporation of water. Secure ice if possible, keeping it in the camp refrigerator made of placing one box within another with hay between and caring for all perishable food products in this manner. Do not forget that one news of your coming has been waited abroad by innumerable winged and other malevolent insects and that they are gathering for a feast unheeded of in all the days of their existence; therefore screen your food, hang it high and guard it zealously.

Interested yourself in your own welfare. Be moderate. Beware of the farmer's corn and cabbages, and sparingly of the confections to which you are unaccustomed and glance at the well of boyhood days only with suspicion. Don't allow the weather or the children to annoy you, rest as well as you can, show the youngsters what father can do when he has the proper environment, and imagine what a wonderful time you are having. When it is all over we'd get together again, tell us how we've fared and relate our numerous adventures, and begin to plan for the season to come.

WASHINGTON

Owing to the bad weather Saturday evening, the victrola concert and dance held at the hall were not very largely attended, but there was a fair attendance and the entertainment was much enjoyed.
